Change of shareholder structure at Selecta one

The Stuttgart-based breeding and young plant company Selecta one announces a change in its shareholder structure.

After 22 years of joint ownership and management in the third generation together with his twin brother Per Klemm, Nils Klemm has decided to end his role as managing director and shareholder of the company in order to seek a new centre of life for himself and his family and to start a new phase in his life.

This very personal decision comes after careful consideration and full recovery from an insidious illness that has required several operations and hospital stays over the past two years.

The company motto "we love to grow" is interpreted in a very personal way here.

As the sole shareholder of the Selecta one Group, Per Klemm will drive the further development of the company together with the Selecta one team.

The company states that the two brothers have decided on this path together and with each other. This lays the foundation for further positive development of the family-owned company Selecta one.

Selecta One

The family company Selecta one is a world-leader in breeding, producing and marketing vegetatively propagated ornamental plants. The breeding activities include bedding and balcony plants, Poinsettias, perennials and cut flowers. With 15 production sites and distribution companies in Europe, Africa, Asia and America, the corporate group serves all relevant markets worldwide. Quality and sustainability are our key concepts for innovations in the product and marketing sector, whilst responsibility and reliability are the basic principles for our dealings with customers, members of staff and the environment. Our commercial objective is to create a green product world, to win over and inspire gardeners, the trade and the end consumer.
